HELP YOUR TOWN.

The following from the Tyler (Texas) Democrat, aptly supplements articles which have from time to time appeared in this journal on the same subject: "It is a well established principle that the people make the place, not its facilities for business. It is true, an energetic and prosperous people may be kept back by a lack of natural advantages, but this is not always the case. A thousand towns are kept in check by the greed and lack of public spirit of the people, where one is kept down by the location. Push and energy overcome all obstacles; greed and want of energy will kill the most promising locality. So a village is to be what its citizens make it. If its land-owners hold the lots so high that the manufacturers are kept out, this will act as a weight to keep it down. If the citizens prefer to patronize merchants and mechanics of other places, that helps to keep the town down. What is wanted by the place is unity as far as public good is concerned. Patronize each other as far as possible, and new enterprises—especially manufactures—give a warm greeting to any new settler, so far as may be in everything that tends to the public good. If this policy is pursued a village will rapidly grow and become a thrifty and prosperous town. If, on the contrary, unless they get a slice of the profit, they look upon every new arrival as a pigeon to be plucked, and patronize their neighbors only when they cannot do as well or better somewhere else; then a place will grow slowly, if at all; its natural advantages will go to waste, and count for nothing in the question of prosperity."

FAIR'S CANDIDACY.

The Enterprise of Sunday morning contains a well digested account of the way in which Fair, since his election has deserted his constituents and allowed the silver interests of this State to go to the board. In all Nevada's history no representative has left us so thoroughly in the lurch as Fair, and no man daunted his insults more deeply in the faces of the people. He has been nothing but a nonentity from the first, for he has schemed to cripple our industries, reduce our citizens to the starvation point where he considers a few of his dollars will buy their votes. His election to an office he was manifestly unfitted for, so turned his head that he considered his wife, one of the noblest and purest of women, no longer fit for him to live with, and therefore he treated his family as he had treated Nevada, and cast it away from him. In the Enterprise editorial is one significant paragraph. It says:

There have been certain events in the life of Mr. Fair on the Comstock that were lightly passed over in his first candidacy, but which will receive the full clear light of extensive publicity should he ask of the voters of Nevada a second term in the Senate.

The words "on the Comstock" only cover a portion of the indictment against Fair. California will furnish its share of the black record against him.

—H. Schwatka, a United States army officer, gives the following in an Eastern exchange concerning the famous Treadwell mine on Douglas Island, Alaska, owned largely by Senator J. P. Jones: "The ledge is fully 600 feet in width and of an unknown length and depth. As one person laconically puts it, they not only own a gold ledge, but a stone quarry that is rich in gold. The quartz is of low grade, as miners say—that is, there is but little gold in it to the ton; but it is of a free milling quality—that is, it is easily crushed and the little gold readily secured at small expense. Those of extreme views have said that $100,000 was made in ten days' trial run at one time, which would make the mine worth $36,000,000, if capitalized on a five per cent. income. It is also reported that $16,000,000 has been offered for the mines."

—The proposition to nominate the Governor last, at Elko, in order to make him keep his political promises, is a striking commentary on the confidence the party has in Jewett's agreements.

—Some of the papers are complaining that the sentence of Thomas was too light. It was light, but it was all the punishment the Statute books allowed the Court.
